Peg, an artist and former creative and product director for Hallmark Cards and Chuck, an artist also, is a former creative director for Walt Disney Co. They are collaborative artists who dedicate themselves to peoples' and organizations' formative issues. genesisart.org

"Edges, boundaries, and intersections have been at the heart of our artistic expression for more than 20 years. In a world that seems full of polarizations, we see boundaries and edges not as divisions, but as places of potential that hold tension and allow something new to rise from struggle."

Their residencies and collaborations are both therapy and reconciliation, working across the US and throughout the world where needed.
