On a sunny winter afternoon, Joan Roe and Nancy Keyes drove to Red Wing to visit ProAct’s facilities and to present a check for various pieces of equipment needed. ProAct’s “wish list” included a Wii Console with equipment and programs to enable up to four consumers to use at one time; a mini trampoline with handrails, and an In Stride bicycle that can be used from any chair. “We really appreciate your thoughtfulness and know we will have many pleased consumers”, says Sarah Kopp.

The ULLR Foundation is the philanthropic affiliate of the ULLR Ski, Bike and Social Club. Its mission is to raise money to provide equipment and promote participation in skiing, biking, and other sports and activities for the physically and mentally challenged individuals of all ages. www.ULLR.org
